

PERSONALISM

लोकद्वयात् स्वजनतः परतः स्वतोवा प्राणप्रियादपि सुमेरुसमा यदि
स्युः । क्लेशास्तदाप्यतिबली सहसा विजित्य प्रेमैव तान् हरिरिभानिव
पुष्टिमेति ॥ स्निग्धाङ्गकान्तिरथ गर्वधरोऽत्यभीतो विश्रम्भवान्
स्वपिति किं गणयेदसौ तान् । कण्ठीरवः शुन इवाभिभवन्
सरागस्तेष्वेव राजतितमां तमसीव दीपः ॥ लाम्पट्यतो नवनवं
विषयं प्रकुर्वन्नास्वादयन्नतिमदोद्भुरतां दधानः । आल्हादयन्नमृतरश्मिरिव
त्रिलोकीं सन्तापयन् प्रलयसूर्य्य इवावभाति ॥

“There may arise great Mountains of Sufferings from friends and enemies, from sanctions of This World and the Next. Why, they may arise even from the Beloved! But Mighty Love conquers all those obstacles without any difficulty. That conquest in fact makes it stronger even as a Lion that conquers a Herd of Elephants becomes more strong.”

“Love glows with a Beautiful Complexion, it is Proud, it is Fearless, it is in Perfect Repose. Just as a Lion totally ignores a Pack of Dogs and casually naps in the midst of them, so Love takes no account of difficulties on its path. Indeed it radiates gloriously in the midst of them even as a Lamp in the midst of Deep Darkness.”

“Love lustily makes up ever-new exciting situations, enjoys them lustily and manifests itself as in states of great arrogance and intoxication. It is pleasing as the Nectarean Moonbeams, it is scorching as the Blazing Sun.”

Glimpses into Art and Life of Mumbiram

